STATE'S PUBLICITY TO REACH 40 MILLION IN 80 PUBLICATIONS

Forty million salesmen for Maine recreational promotion are assured by the placement of 1310 advertisements in 80 newspapers and magazines this year. That is the total circulation of these publications. Everett F. Granton, director of the Division of Recreation in the Department of Development and Commerce, points up the way to supplement this paid space in national media by creating further good will between residents and vacationists when he states:

"With the 1956 vacation season almost upon us, we sincerely hope that everyone who deals with tourists will help to make all of our guests really feel 'They belong in Maine!'"

Granton's office is mailing out a four-page folder, 8 1/2 x 11 inches in size, which contains samples of the paid national advertising being used to help "sell" Maine recreation. He adds:

"We are seeking broad national coverage and heavy impact in the densely populated areas of New England, the Middle Atlantic States, and the Mid-West."

The folder will go to a large number of those in the vacation-travel business in the state, with the thought that their own advertising may be scheduled to fall in with that being done by the Development Department.

Besides the media referred to in the folder, Granton suggests: "A complete schedule of publications and dates may be obtained from this office."

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Many towns in Maine are making a real effort to bring some new industry into their town. I believe we in Bethel have good reason to be proud of the present amount of employment and also the quality of the leaders in the different business establishments in town. A short time ago the Chamber of Commerce voted that they were in favor of some new industry if a suitable one could be induced to make Bethel its home. We do have quite a lot of people going out of town for employment at a loss of time and also rather expensive as well. What is your thinking in the matter? Have we any volunteers who are willing to give their time to assist in making a labor survey in Bethel? This is apparently the start of a project of this nature. Please let us know at the Town office if you are interested in the matter. Tel. 63.

Thank you.

19 EXPLORER SCOUTS OF PINE TREE COUNCIL GOING TO NEW MEXICO JULY 19-30

A high adventure Explorer Expedition for the older members of the Boy Scouts of the Pine Tree Council, the announcement was made this week of the selection of George D. Pillsbury of Mechanic Falls as leader of an Expedition of at least 16 Explorer Scouts to Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico, on the dates of July 19 to 30th.

Mr. Pillsbury, who is now Scoutmaster of Troop 120 of Mechanic Falls has been in Scouting a number of years and was a Scout himself. He also served as Assistant Cubmaster of a Cub Pack in Mechanic Falls. Mr. Pillsbury is married and has one son, age 9. He served 3 1/2 years in the U. S. Army and is employed by the Central Maine Power Company.

The Exploration trip will be made to Philmont Scout Ranch which is the National Camp of the Boy Scouts of America, and was given to them by Walter Phillips. It consists of 127,000 acres in the Rocky Mountains and is ideal for Scout exploration trips.

The Explorers will leave Portland on July 17th and will make the trip by train. There will be two or three days of training at base camp, and then a number of days of horseback riding, burro packing, wilderness survival and hiking through the land of Kit Carson and many other historical figures. Several tentative registrations have been made by young men throughout the area of the Pine Tree Council and during the week of April 22 through the 11th a movie concerning the Philmont Ranch will be shown at various places throughout the 16 county council area. On July 19 Explorers 14 years of age or older are accepted for the expedition. This will be the third occasion on which representatives of the Pine Tree Council have made the trip to Philmont, and officials of the Scout Council are now fearful that they will not be able to accommodate the number of boys who are anxious to attend.

CANCER CRUSADE TO OPEN APRIL 1

The 1956 Cancer Crusade of the Maine Cancer Society begins April 1, and in every corner of the state an army of 23,000 volunteers is preparing to do battle against cancer in a unique educational and fund-raising campaign unprecedented in the Society's history.

Aimed at striking the sharpest blow yet against one of mankind's cruellest enemies, the Cancer Crusade will continue throughout the month of April, designated by Congress as Cancer Control Month and so proclaimed by President Eisenhower.

The 23,000 volunteers—called "Cancer Crusaders"—will distribute many more thousands of pieces of educational material listing the famous "Seven Danger Signals" of the American Cancer Society (of which the Maine Cancer Society is a division) and pointing to the importance of early diagnosis and prompt, effective treatment of cancer. At the same time, they will provide Maine citizens with an opportunity to strike back against cancer with their contributions toward the Society's programs of research, education, and service to patients.

The Cancer Crusade seeks a statewide goal of $140,000 as Maine's share of the $20,000,000 national campaign. National chairman is Ed Sullivan, New York columnist and television personality. Chairman for Maine is Major-General Frank S. Lowe (USAR, retired), of Hallowell.

In any undertaking that disseminates cancer educational material on so broad a scale, many lives surely are saved," General Lowe said today. "But if only one life were to be saved as a result of that humanitarian effort, I feel that the Cancer Crusade would be worth the best we have to offer it in terms of time, labor and sacrifice. I look forward confidently to campaign victory, and to an eventual victory over cancer itself."

The Seven Danger Signals of cancer are: 1. any sore that does not heal; 2. any change in a mole, wart or birthmark; 3. any lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; 4. any unusual discharge; 5. persistent and unexplained loss of weight; 6. persistent and unexplained hoarseness or cough; and 7. any change in normal bowel habits. You can fight cancer with a check-up and a check.

BETHUEL BLOOD TYPING TO START NEXT WEEK

The Bethel Auxiliary of the Rumford Community Hospital is planning to begin blood typing this first week in April. With the services of Barbara Ferguson and Barbara Keenan, laboratory technicians at the Rumford hospital, the Auxiliary hopes to type about 100 people one day a week for four weeks at the American Legion rooms.

Knowing your blood type is of value as a recipient or a donor. In an emergency an accurate file of blood types will save hours and perhaps a life. There is no age limit.

If you have been typed before and have a Red Cross card stating so, it may be put on file. The time each week that the laboratory technicians will be in Bethel will be announced in the Citizen. The members of various organizations will be contacted by their Health Council representatives and appointments made for the following week.

Bethel is fortunate in having Mrs. Keenan and Mrs. Ferguson volunteer their services. They are doing it because they feel it is an important and worthwhile project. Let's keep them busy!

Ideas from other editors

From the Kiowa News-Journal, Atlatla, Oklahoma: A naturalist once divided an aquarium with a glass partition. He put a lusty bass in one section and minnows in the other. The bass made a large every time a minnow approached the partition. After a few days of fruitless longing, in which he gained only bruises, he ceased his efforts and lived on the food that was dropped to him.

The naturalist then removed the glass partition. The minnows swam all around the bass, but he did not strike at a single one. He had been thoroughly sold on the idea that he would be fed.

Christopher Columbus is famous because he discovered America. By accident it is true—he was looking for a new ship route to the Indies, but don't forget this: Columbus would not have discovered America, would not have even sailed, if he had not the boundless courage and unlimited faith in himself. The "wise" men of the time laughed at his idea that the world was round, but Columbus knew he was right, and refused to let others talk him out of it. He persisted in the face of the greatest obstacles, and even as he cleared the shores of America he had to put down a mutiny of his sailors, who did not have his courage and faith.

Now, then, how do these two thoughts fit into the life of our community? Merely this, there seem to be some who do not believe in the future of Atlatla. There are others, however, that are working to advance Atlatla. These are the men and women that the citizens of the community must look toward to maintain the progress that has for the past few years been in evidence. Neither a community nor an individual can stand in one place. We all grow older, and in the growth we either grow in stature or we shrivel. Now is the time for advancement. Now is the time for growth. Tomorrow it will be farther to the goal.

From the Southern Standard, Arkadelphia, Arkansas: Some may wonder why the circus keeps coming back year after year. After all, the acts and the animals and the clowns and all the rest of it are pretty much the same.

One reason is that a great new audience comes into being in this country each year. Last year, for instance, 4,000,000 babies were born—and none had seen an elephant!

In other words, the circus comes back because the American scene is forever changing. There's a lesson in that for merchants and all other business people. They must keep on selling their wares and attract their new customers as well as their old.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

There are many diverse and conflicting opinions on problems affecting the educational system and the teaching profession. But one point something close to unanimity seems to exist that we are on the verge of a severe teacher shortage. In the comparative near future we will need a great increase in the rolls of schools, all the way from the elementary schools to the graduate colleges. That we are told, the number of young people preparing for and entering the profession is dangerously small.

At the same time, there has been a growing impression that teaching is undervalued as a career, and is unattractive to people who are unwilling or unable to make the grade in the tough, competitive fields of trade and commerce. As an educator of long experience, Daniel H. Gould, President of American College, puts it: "The teacher is at all times prepared in this American scene as a functioning, practical, creative individual. Living on a level in respect to working conditions to his profession as an exception to the rule." Gould feels that this is a great misapprehension. He believes that teaching is not only among the greatest of professions, but that it offers material as well as spiritual rewards.

It is almost universally said that teachers are underpaid. If that's true, it is not only true, but it is a very real reason why the profession is steadily improving. Salaries of $5000 for classroom teachers are not uncommon now and since after state has raised the minimum to $4000. In many other walks of life the financial rewards are not as great as one might suppose. There is a great picture at about the $7500 to $8000 a year level for employees in business and industry which only a comparative few manage to get to.

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

In one of her appreciated financial columns, Sylvia Parker points out that a massive amount of confusion already has been created about the effect of the change from business and stock prices and an even more massive confusion is sure to be thrown up in the coming week. No Mr. Parker was not to set the record straight and to present the facts as they are. The confusion is not only a confusion to the public, but it is a confusion to the business and stock markets.

How the story also that there has been a confusion about the effect of the change from business and stock prices and an even more massive confusion is sure to be thrown up in the coming week. No Mr. Parker was not to set the record straight and to present the facts as they are. The confusion is not only a confusion to the public, but it is a confusion to the business and stock markets.

Miss Parker also offers a fair and "The record also suggests that business activity might be higher than it is at this writing, right now, before the election. And that goes regardless of the source of the information, their political tags or the outcome."

Political is important. It is our political candidates and their views that we look at if the strength and vigor of American enterprise. It is for us all the not materially affected by election and the not political winds.

As for the teacher, Dr. Gould is convinced that economic progress will continue, and at an accelerated pace—and that improvement in teacher quality will do much to speed and increase financial return.

He finds small merit in the common statement that most of the teacher's work is sheer drudgery—grading, theme correcting, preparation for classes, etc. All professional—medicine, chemistry, the law, whatever—require great amounts of planning labor. He says: "Teaching has as much drudgery and routine in it as other professions, but no more."

Then he disputes the equally common claim that the teaching profession has comparatively little recognition and status in this country. Teachers who have entered into and demonstrated leadership in civic and cultural affairs have won widespread admiration and respect. He states: "As an individual the teacher has and will continue to have all the opportunities which citizens have for service and prestige."

Dr. Gould reads his curriculum on optimistic note. "The teacher of tomorrow will be carefully selected, broadly trained and adequately paid. He will be the powerful force by which this nation will achieve the maturity of mind and the serenity of spirit that are the hallmarks of true greatness. He will have a new awareness and a new sense of calling. Most of all, he will be recognized and honored among men as one to whom God has given a precious opportunity to serve."

GRASS ROOTS OPINION
Sallybury, N. C. Post: "There is a great deal of talk about falling back on high fixed party prices. But the unquestionable fact is that it was this policy which created problems worse than those it attempted to solve—by encouraging production for purchase and storage by the government. Instead of for consumption. We cannot have a sound farm economy so long as surpluses of incredible size keep piling up."

LOVELESS, N. M. Leader: "As long as men are forced by the union to join a union in order to hold their jobs, the union has no moral right to use one penny of those dues for political purposes."

West Grove, Pa. Independent: "If we could only earn 100 cents per hour, we would be doing pretty well."

San Marino, Calif. Tribune: "The new law, freedom, equality of opportunity, justice, establishment of peace and a new era of world peace."

The Oxford County Citizen: "The United News, Inc. The Oxford County Citizen, 1956. Entered as second class matter May 7, 1955, at the post office at Bethel, Maine. THE TRUE MESSAGE OF EASTER

IN SPAIN WITH MISS LAURA WILSON

January 11 (11 Enero 1956)

Dear Folks,

Buenos dias. Como esta usted? Muy bien. That's good. I am beginning to be very anxious to get back to Durham so that I can read a few letters which must be waiting for me. Five weeks without word from home is rather long. I think.

I did not tell you anything about Madrid, did I? Perhaps it is too late, for my memory is not very good. I think I told you about the funny trip to Madrid and the many men who accompanied us to Aravaca, a small town near Madrid where we stayed. The family we stayed with were Colonel and Mrs. Burbank. Col Burbank is with the U. S. Army. Mrs. Burbank is from Dixfield, Maine, so she felt very kindly toward me. Judy and Gail are 21 and 20 years of age and are taking courses in Spanish language and history at the University of Madrid. Their older brother, Archie, came in very handy for no girls go out in Spain at night unaccompanied.

We had forgotten how much we missed American food and people. I think I had forgotten when American food was life. We were almost homesick when we left Aravaca. In Madrid there is really not much to see except city. One day we visited the thieves' market. This is in a poor section of the town and obtained its name because there are so many things which have been stolen. We also visited other shops there in the thieves' market. I found a hand-made copper pitcher. Of course, I have no way of knowing where it came from, for it was stolen. Obviously, they would not tell me where they got it. In the nice shops we found New Year's Eve for the celebrasome other interesting things. The girls bought some adorable Spanish dolls—dancers and bullfighters. I hope to find one for Grammie in Barcelona where they are made. Do you think Grammie would like a doll?

One day we hopped a train to Escorial where there is a beautiful chapel, palace, and monastery built by Philip II. His idea was that God should have a special place of worship within the confines of the palace, and that Holy Men should also be there to serve as good examples to the ruler of the country. This struck me as much better than the objectives of Ferdinand and Isabella for building the Royal Chapel at Granada. They wanted a chapel where they could be buried. That is all. You have no idea how closely the idea of church and state are intertwined in Europe. Perhaps that is why Americans cannot understand the relief which most English people felt when Princess Margaret decided not to marry P. T. The United States is quite different in many ways. The moral standards are much more Puritan for one thing.

Back to Madrid. One day the girls took us to Toledo in their little car. The Burbanks bought a small car because the European streets were not made for large cars and besides Europeans resent American cars. The Burbanks say that Americans have a way of making themselves hated wherever they go. They do not intend to add to it. Toledo is a beautiful place where they make a special kind of jewelry which we saw being made by hand. We bought some. I have a bracelet and earrings. The Cathedral there was highly decorative but not pretty. We went into a smaller church to see a famous painting and had an interesting conversation with the organist—a sweet young man of 70 who was waiting that he could be in Madrid for New Year's Eve for the celebra-

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

THESE few lines of Mrs. Lora Burris, 3515 Metropolitan Avenue, Kansas City, Kansas, are filled with inspiration.

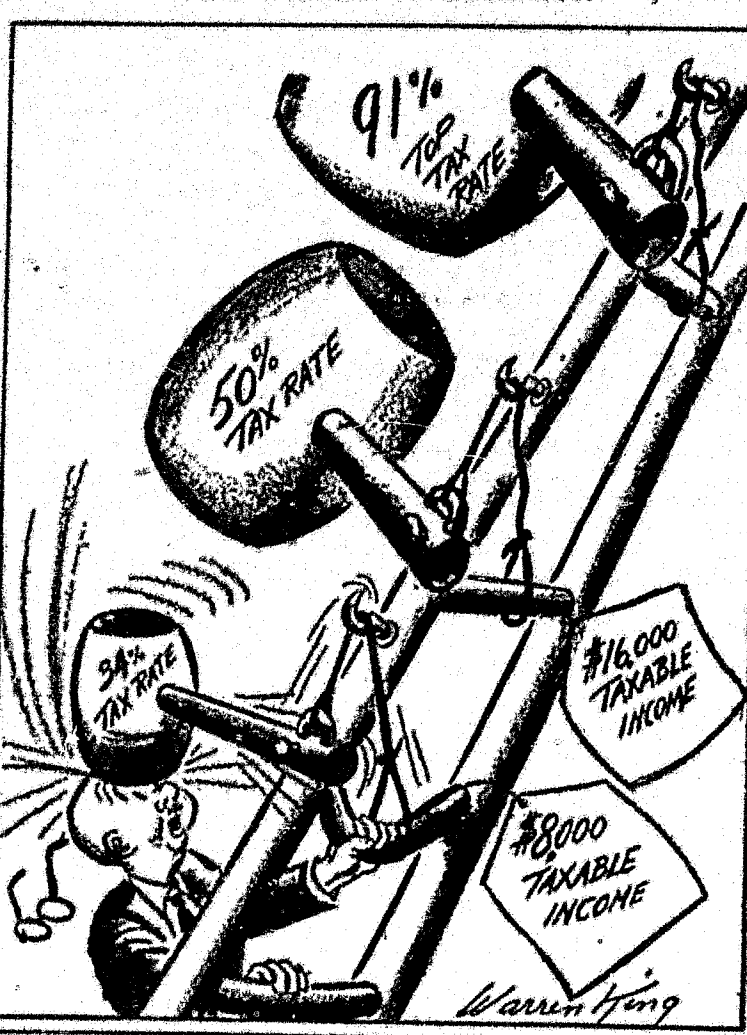

When their family physician told them that her husband would always be a heart invalid, they were shocked and hurt, feeling that life was unfair to them. For two months they worried during the day and slept fitfully at night. Then they decided that regardless of the doctor's diagnosis and decision, no one could possibly know when their Maker would take anyone into His fold. Then they came to another decision. That it isn't how long you live but how you live. Now they began living each day as if they never expected to live another. They didn't put off until tomorrow saying the things each knew the other one wanted to hear, and doing the little things to make each other happier.

Those practices, she says, resulted in their having nine of the happiest years ever given to anyone to experience. And she looks back at those nine years as being filled with more happiness than most married couples have in fifty years.

THE LADDER OF SUCCESS?

FROM A LITTLE ACORN
Parcel post came into being at the beginning of 1913. It's a safe bet that few people then had any idea of how greatly this institution would grow, or of the direction its development would take.

It was envisaged as a limited service, handling small parcels. Primarily for farmers and rural residents not adequately served by private carriers, Congress specified that when we came out at 1:00 everything was still going strong so we bought some still going strong and strolled around awhile viewing the hilarity, always making sure that we didn't lose Archie. After awhile we spotted an American fellow who looked rather homesick. (Men with crew-cuts are always Americans.) We were very glad we saw him because he was very lonely.

One day in the Prado—the National Art Gallery—completed our stay in Madrid. We saw two American movies—"Marty" and "One Touch of Venus"—both very enjoyable. One evening we saw ballet of the Spanish variety but there was no Flamenco—the native Gypsy type—so I wasn't overly impressed.

COMMUTE BY HELICOPTER?
You'll really live differently when helicopters arrive! Commuting 50 miles to the city by helibus will be as routine as it is to drive today, say the editors of "Changing Times." The Kiplinger Magazine.

It is expected to be a real experience for some people in Chicago this year. And within ten years, 1,500,000 passengers will be carried annually and 200 helibus flights will be made daily over the 200 miles between New York and Washington.

You will catch your helibus at a "port" about 25 feet long by 40 feet wide. Inside the helibus you will find seats for 30 or 40 riders. Your bus will be oblong, completely enclosed with glass, and heavily insulated to muffle the noise of the motor and rotor above. Your helibus will rise slowly, angling slightly, to 1,000 or 2,000 feet, and you will have the same sensation as going up in an elevator. In the air it will move along at a top speed of around 150 miles per hour.

The landing will be made at the city airport, located in a clearing in mid-town or on a reinforced rooftop or a platform floating on a river or a lake.

Bad weather isn't likely to stop the helibus. And safety will be an advertised feature. If the engine should fail, the rotor would float gently to earth because the rotor would continue to spin until the machine landed.

No matter how the operators pare it, the price of a helicopter

This is in remembrance of the (Luke 21:1-34)

DURING my first visit to Washington, D. C., I took the elevator to the top of the Washington monument. From that height I saw more grandeur and beauty than I had ever seen before in any city. Moreover, that plain monument to more than a granite shaft honoring the father of his country. It lifted me heavenward and gave me a new vision.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper, the Master's memorial, lifts us closer to God. It causes us to ponder not to remember. In a service of remembrance and true worship to eating and tasting the bread and the wine, we are helped to see that "Average Man on the Street" the Savior who sacrificed his life for us.

No event in history moves men so deeply as the crucifixion of Jesus. Suffering love was put to death to reform even the meanest of men. Although we remember the suffering Savior at the Lord's Table, Holy Communion is more than a memorial meal. When celebrated as a fellowship feast, it increases our love for Christ and others.

Prayer
Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid; cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee, and worthily magnify Thy holy Name, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thought For The Day
At the Lord's Supper we remember and worship.

Morris, a former university teacher of Physics and well known specialist in teaching through laughs and gasps, will present his program on "Modern Miracles on Science" through his popularized science program.

Mr. Morris kindles ideas, develops hopes, and generates enthusiasm among young people for adequate training to take advantage of the many opportunities open in the world of science to those who are prepared. He uses models of electronic aids to air and space in his demonstrations of "Miracles of Science" involved in aviation, guided missiles and radiation.

After three days of try-outs from a large group of candidates for parts, the cast for the senior play, a rip-roaring farce entitled "Time Out for Ginger" was finally cast by Mr. Thompson as follows: Lizzie, family maid in the Carol household, Ann Boardway; Mr. Howard, Carol's bank vice president, Matt Myhrman; Agnes, his long-suffering wife, Eleanor Merriam; Joan, oldest daughter, Mary Alice Chandler; Jeanette, next in age, Sandra Myers; Ginger, the youngest, who wants to play football, Margaret Roloff; Eddie Davis, big man on campus, Jeff Dillman; Tommy Green, member of the intellectual type, Ray Coulam; Mr. Wilcox, high school principal, Dan Lane; Ed Hoffman, bank president, Howard Ward.

That notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by causing a copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Bethel Citizen a newspaper published at Bethel, in said County, that they may appear at a Probate Court to be held at Paris, on the third Tuesday of April A. D. 1956, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and be heard thereon if they see cause.

Lillian Maude Lapham, late of Greenwood, deceased; Will and petition for probate thereof and the appointment of J. Carlton Lapham as executor of the same, to act without bond as expressed in said Will, presented by J. Carlton Lapham, the executor therein named.

Mary A. Myers, of Bethel, adult ward; First and final Account presented for allowance by Wilbur R. Myers, guardian.

George M. Lapham, late of Dixfield, deceased; Petition for the appointment of Perry C. Lapham or some other suitable person as Administrator of the estate of said George M. Lapham, brother and heir-at-law.

Witness, Robert T. Smith Judge of said Court at Paris, this third Tuesday of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-six.

"Don't walk on the highways left side facing traffic and be unless it is absolutely necessary, our Governor's Committee on Highway Safety advises. Unusual weather conditions sometimes make it necessary to walk in the roadway and, in some localities, there are no sidewalks. If you must walk in the roadway, walk on the right side facing traffic and be prepared to step off the paving as traffic approaches. At night, be sure to carry a light and wear something light-colored. Remember, it is much more difficult for the driver to see you than it is for you to see his oncoming car."

Rev. Robert H. Harper
The Meaning of the Resurrection.
Lesson for April 1: Luke 24: 1-7, 11-13, 15-17, 27-28.
Golden Text: 1 Corinthians 15: 57.

On the afternoon of the resurrection, two disciples on the way to Emmaus did not recognize the stranger who drew and joined them. They were discussing the wonderful thing that had taken place in Jerusalem—the resurrection.

When their home in Emmaus was reached, Jesus made as if to go further, but upon insistence of the two disciples, he turned with them into their abode. When they sat down to their evening meal, the stranger became known to them in the breaking of bread and in giving thanks. And immediately he vanished out of their sight.

The disciples were in the same state of confusion to Jerusalem as the two disciples what they had seen and heard in the evening. We observed that Jesus appeared and was with them. They were talking about him and talking about him. And we may have been surprised if we had about him and prepared him from in our hearts.

In his first appearance to the disciples, Jesus told them of the fulfillment of prophecy in his coming, appointed him as witness, and made them to testify in Jerusalem and they received power from him. The resurrection confirms the resurrection and the words of the gospel record. Through Christ we shall rise. Let us trust in him for life everlasting.

With all this testimony watching him rise. We may have a personal knowledge of what the disciples had. Let us trust in him for life everlasting.

With all this testimony watching him rise. We may have a personal knowledge of what the disciples had. Let us trust in him for life everlasting.

With all this testimony watching him rise. We may have a personal knowledge of what the disciples had. Let us trust in him for life everlasting.

last year. Our Governor's Committee on Highway Safety urges us to be constantly alert if we walk in the road... and to keep out of the roadway whenever it is possible to walk somewhere else. They urge us, as drivers, to be exceptionally alert for walkers, especially walkers who are elderly or who are young. Those under fifteen and over 60 are particularly vulnerable in traffic.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE Whereas, Joseph J. Richard and J. Jerome Richard, both of Rumford, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, by their mortgage deed dated January 17, 1955 and recorded in Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Book 543, Pages 374 and 375 conveyed to the Bethel Savings Bank, a banking corporation located at Bethel in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, the following described real estate: a certain lot or parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Rumford, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, and being lots numbered 431, 432, 433 and 434 on plan of Virginia Terrace, Henry Nelson, Engineer, dated July, 1924 and recorded in Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Plan Book A, Page 14 1/2, and being the same premises conveyed to Jerome Richard by warranty deed of Fidele Polier dated March 12, 1937, and recorded in Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Book 420, Page 425.

Also another certain lot or parcel of land situated in said Rumford and being lots numbered 444, 445, 446 and 447 on a plan of Virginia Terrace made by Harry E. Nelson dated July, 1924, and recorded in Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Plan Book A, Page 14 1/2. Being the same premises as conveyed to Joseph J. Richard by warranty deed of Jerome Richard dated December 2, 1952, and recorded in Oxford County Registry of Deeds.

Now therefore, by reason of the breach of the conditions thereof the said Bethel Savings Bank claims a foreclosure of said mortgage.

Dated at Bethel, Maine this thirteenth day of March A. D. 1956. Bethel Savings Bank by /s/ Kimball Ames (seal) Treasurer

State of Maine County of Oxford, ss March 13, 1956 Subscribed and sworn to by the said Kimball Ames in his capacity as treasurer of the said Bethel Savings Bank.

SP2 and Mrs. Arnold P. Dorey

DOREY - FELGER

Miss Helga Emma Elsa Felger, daughter of Mr and Mrs Wilhelm Karl Felger of Hedelfingen, Germany, and Arnold Parker Dorey, son of Geraldine and the late Roy C Dorey of Bethel, were married on Feb. 11th. Mrs Dorey was employed as a clerk-typist.

SP2 Arnold Dorey enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1950 with training at Fort Dix, N. J., served 11 months in Korea. In January of this year he re-enlisted for 6 more years. About June of 1957 Mr and Mrs Dorey are expected to be back in the states. They are now living in a furnished apartment in Stuttgart, Germany, not far from the base where he is Motor Pool Sergeant.

BEAR RIVER GRANGE

After several weeks of hibernating the Bear River Grange correspondent has come to life to tell you Bear River Grange is still alive. Only one meeting has had to be postponed this winter even though most of the meeting nights have been stormy. The meeting Saturday night, March 24th the W. M. was away to a wedding reception but we had a good meeting. Our next meeting on April 7 is educational night - the teachers are to be invited guests and there will probably be a good speaker to be sure and come. Two names have come in and been voted on as 25 things now stand April 21 will be degree work. The program Saturday night was on "Wild Animals" and consisted of a contest, making names of wild animals from jumbled letters. Helen Varner won the prize. Box of animal crackers! Then there was a large debate on the question "Are game reserves a good thing?" Fred Wright, Carole Wight and Eva Desloches on the negative side while Clayton Blake, Helen Varner and George Stearns were on the other side. Never did know who won but it proved very interesting. Then we had a reading on "Elephants" by Helen Varner. A very interesting but cold meeting. Eva Yates.

WIDE, WONDERFUL WORLD

By FRANKLIN J. MEINE
Editor, The American Peoples Encyclopedia

IT MUST be that babies are smarter than we think. The first word the average baby speaks, that obviously has reference to some specific object or situation, usually occurs at ten or eleven months. After actual talking gets well under way, the vocabulary may increase rather rapidly, 500 or 600 words a year; as many as 1,000 or more with alert children. By the time the child is six years old he is likely to have a vocabulary of 2,500 or 3,000 words. It has been pointed out that the word "mama," with varying inflections, may mean "mama give me," "mama look," or "there is mama." Such a single word sentence is called a "rheme."

Man outdoes the sea animal, whether it be a tuna or green crab, in its ability to adapt to temperature. Most sea animals can tolerate only a small range in temperature. Only those relatively few sea animals that can tolerate temperature changes of 10 degrees Fahrenheit can remain in temperate zones. All others must migrate or die. Man can withstand temperatures which range from 134 degrees above to 90 degrees below zero.

WEST PARIS HIGH SCHOOL

To increase their treasury funds, the sophomore class held a roller skating party at the Oxford Hotel last night when they raised a large sum.

Two West Paris seniors, Ronald Clark and Shirley Ellingswood, will enter the National Honor Society competition. This scholarship fund is largely provided by the L. G. Hall.

Recently a school music, "The Sound of Music," starring Anna Gardner, Susan Hayward, and Gregory Peck was held in the high school building.

A series of chess games is being held to supplement the chess club. All interested persons may take part. Games will be played on one of two teams which will meet for the first time on Wednesday.

The West Paris Tennis Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Helen Ellingswood, will have a very successful season. The club has a very fine colored slide of places and animals that are very interesting.

Conservation Farming In Oxford County

by Douglas L. Marston and Conservation Service

Charles Hopkins Dana Putnam of Bethel and George Stearns of Haverhill are very interested in conserving ponds on their farms this summer.

The God Conservation Service has been requested to make surveys of these areas to determine if conditions are right for proper pond construction.

The Bennett Brothers of Buckfield, Armas Wool of Oxford and Allen Redding of Paris are all interested in brush removal to improve pastures on their farms.

John McKee of West Paris plans to install about 400 feet of the drain in one of his orchards this summer. John put in about 1000 feet of the drain several years ago and has had excellent results.

Those planning to attend the Farm and Home Week Program at the University of Maine April 2 to 5 would like to point out some of the features that should be of considerable interest to those of Oxford County.

On the Farm and Home Week Program, April 2, there will be a talk at 9:00 a. m. by Tom McCauley on the Farm and Home Week Program.

SCHOOL NEWS

Grade 4—Mrs. Ring, Miss Ballard
We had perfect attendance two days last week. Our grade has been helping color some of the decorations for the fair. Miss Ballard's room gave her a birthday party last Friday. She was surprised and very pleased with her gifts.

Grade 6—Mrs. Lord
Twenty-three pupils from our room went to the movie, "King of Kings" on Tuesday. We are making a notebook called "Central America in a Nut Shell." We are making and coloring decorations for the fair, April 6. We are passing in our Five Famous people for March this week. April 2 our rank cards are due. Reporter, Bonnie Barnes.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends for flowers, plants, letters, cards and sunshine boxes, which made me so happy and brightened the days when I was ill. Thanks again to everyone.
